MARQUETTE CO. SINGLE BIDDER ON F. O. B. BASIS

Eight Other Cement Companies Decline Such Proposals

Springfield, Ill., March 26—(AP)—Only one cement company today offered to sell supplies to the state at a F. O. B. price at the mill. Eight others declined to submit bids.

The Marquette Cement Manufacturing Company of Oglesby made an average bid of $1.39 a barrel for cement at the mill.

Director Robert Kinsinger of the Department of Public Works & Buildings said the bid would be taken under advisement and the matter submitted to Governor Horner before a definite decision is reached.

The eight companies, which declined to quote mill prices, F. O. B. sent word that it is against their policy to make bids except on a delivery basis.

Grant Extension

As the F. O. B. bids were opened today, all the companies consented to a ten-day extension of their offers, which averaged $1.84 a barrel delivered at the county seats.

Purchasing of nearly a million barrels of cement for 1934 road construction has been held up for three months, first while the state obtained elimination of a NRA code clause and then to ask for F. O. B. bids.

Last year the administration engaged in a prolonged price war, before reaching an agreement with the Marquette Company.

Anglers Will Meet Again Next Sunday to Consider Plans

A meeting called for the purpose of determining the advisability of stocking certain creek streams in Lee county with German brown trout, was held Sunday morning at North Galena avenue, and was well attended. Another meeting will be held next Sunday morning to determine a plan to be undertaken by fishermen of Dixon and vicinity.

For the present the plan of introducing the brown trout into local creeks, has been abandoned and an attempt will be made to secure the location of a fish hatchery for this vicinity. The restocking of streams with fish native to the waters in this vicinity is the purpose of the anglers who have been interested in the program. State Conservation Inspector Charles Duls is cooperating in the plan.

Police Terminate Girl's Walkathon Dreams on Advice

Chicago, March 26—(AP)—Pauline Quick, 19, a pretty brunette of Davenport, Ia., was picked up by police today and prevented from attaining her ambition to win a prize in a walkathon.

The girl was arrested on description by Sgt. James Coleman as she alighted from a bus here. Davenport police had asked that a watch be kept for her on complaint of her mother, Mrs. Gladys Quick. She is being held at the Detective Bureau here, pending the arrival of her mother.

Miss Quick said she was en route to Lima, O., to enter a walkathon with a man awaiting her there. She said her mother forced officials of a similar contest in Rockford, Ill., last year to expel her from it because of her age.

Rockford Lock Co. Cited by National Labor Board Today

Washington—The National Labor Board today cited the Rockford Lock Company of Rockford for violation of the National Labor Relations act. The board said it should not be referred to the NRA compliance division for withdrawal of the blue eagle and to the Department of Justice for appropriate action.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, charged the company with failure to observe the spirit of the NRA.

Senate Gives Into the House on Federal Pay Restoration Funds; Takes Up Veterans' Allowances

Washington, March 26—(AP)—The Senate today gave into the House on the federal pay question and then took up the only remaining controversy over the independent offices bill—that relating to veterans' benefits.

Intense Thunder Squall Struck New Orleans Early This Morning Razing 75 Houses; Dozen Injured

No Deaths are Reported: Residents of District Frightened

New Orleans, March 26—(AP)—A thunder squall of great intensity blew down at least 75 houses in a five block area in the Edgewood section of New Orleans shortly after 8 o'clock today. At least a dozen injured persons had been brought out of the wreckage but an hour after the catastrophe no dead had been reported. A baby was reported imprisoned, dead or alive under a house.

The wind struck suddenly with terrific force, residents said. All of a sudden it turned dark as midnight, light went out and roaring whistling crashing noises followed. The blow had come and gone in two minutes but left destruction, turmoil and terror in its wake.

Wind Followed Canal

The wind followed the Almonster canal and blew out on Lake Pontchartrain. As the wind struck, the screams of horrified men, women and children were heard and when the policemen and firemen arrived families, dazed from fright, were wandering about the debris in a heavy downpour of rain.

Live wires and broken gas mains offered another menace as the police herded the families out of the stricken area into other homes. Many small children became separated from their panic stricken parents.

The five block area presented a mass of twisted and torn houses filled with telegraph poles, smashed automobiles and garages. Roofs were blown into the streets and houses were turned on end.

Skipped About

The wind first struck a garage on St. Cloud Avenue, wrecked the building and crushed about twenty automobiles. It then skipped two blocks and leveled a filling station. It rose for another block and then settled down in the five block area of dwellings where it turned the neighborhood into wreckage and pandemonium.

The section consisted mainly of one story frame dwellings and sheds and was occupied by approximately 400 persons, mostly persons of moderate means.

Max Zimmer, elevator operator in the postoffice building, whose home was in the path of the wind said:

"It came with a terrible noise like a flock of freight trains. Everything shook like an earthquake. My house shook and then the wind took off an edge of my shed and passed on. Everybody was screaming. My wife and children were badly frightened. I saw one woman, seriously injured by a chunk of wood. Automobiles were turned over and smashed all over the neighborhood."

Vitamin B Seems to Have an Effect on Insane People

Elgin, Ill., Mar. 26—(AP)—A definite announcement that vitamin B seems to have a pronounced influence on sanity has come from scientists at the Elgin state hospital for the insane.

The announcement, coming from Dr. Eva Ruth Balken, psychiatrist of the institution, and Dr. Siegfried Mauer, Assistant Professor of Pathology of the University of Chicago, originators of the experiment, contained no further details except to say that the scientists had found cause for encouragement, after completion of the first stage of an experiment with dementia praecox victims.

Wilhelm Home is Visited by Death: Daughter is Taken

Patricia Ellen Wilhelm, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Wilhelm, passed away at her home Saturday evening about 7:30 at the age of one year and 19 days. She leaves to survive, her parents, one brother and three sisters, all at home. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Christian church, the pastor, Rev. J. A. Barnett officiating and with interment in Oakwood.

PAW PAW MEN ESCAPE HURTS IN AUTO WRECK

Their Truck Hurdled Guard Rail East of Franklin Grove

Albert Stoke and Earl Burke of Paw Paw narrowly escaped being killed Saturday afternoon about 4:30 in an automobile accident which took place at the turn one mile east of Franklin Grove on the Lincoln Highway, when the truck in which they were riding, struck the steel guard rail as it turned north on the highway, bounded back onto the paving, then hurdled the guard rail, rolling over on its side.

The two men crawled out of the cab of the overturned truck to discover that they had been uninjured. Mr. Stoke sustained a minor flesh wound on the right side of the head and both were considerably shaken up. The wind shield was shattered when the truck crashed into the railing the first time and both were sprayed with splintered glass. It was believed that a rod connected with the steering device snapped as they turned north on the highway at the sharp curve, going toward Ashton.

The force of the impact, when the truck crashed into the guard rail, snapped off posts and bent the steel rail which has been supplemented for the wooden fence at this corner, the scene of numerous wrecks. The damaged truck was towed to Franklin Grove.

Spring Fever Has Wanderlust Effect on 9 State Wards

The balmy spring weather of Sunday tempted nine patients of the Dixon state hospital to attempt escape, but all were back in custody this morning. Three young women from Moline and one from Rock Island, who were received at the institution a week ago, left last night about 7 o'clock. Three of these were taken in custody by the police and returned to the institution about 9 o'clock. About 5:15 last evening, Patrolman Glessner apprehended one of the male patients who had escaped and had attempted to steal a row boat from the north side after wading out to the river. The details of employees from the state hospital captured the remaining escapes during the night and returned them to the institution.

Crusading South Illinois Editor Died Last Night

West Frankfort, Ill., March 26—(AP)—W. A. Kelly, 66, editor of the West Frankfort Daily American, died at his home here last night.

Kelly was prominent for many years in church and political circles throughout the state. Until a few months ago he was postmaster at West Frankfort in which office he had served under the last seven Presidents.

Kelly was first appointed Postmaster by Theodore Roosevelt in 1909 and served under Taft, Wilson, Harding, Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt. He was relieved last June after sixteen years of service.

As an editor, Kelly gained a reputation in southern Illinois as a crusader for law enforcement.

War Dept. Grants Cannon to School at LaSalle, Ill.

Washington, Mar. 26—(AP)—The offices of Representative Buckbee, (R. Ill.) announced that the War Department had granted a request of William F. Confrey, president of the Board of Education at LaSalle, Ill., for a 7-inch cannon and carriage to be placed on the school grounds at LaSalle.

Orders, it was said, would go forth to the Rock Island, Ill. arsenal at once to supply the piece.

Rifle, Held Between Knees, Discharges as Car Stops: One Dead

Genoa, Ill.—When his rifle, which was resting between his knees, discharged with the lurch of an automobile in which he was a passenger, George Snyder, 55, bachelor farm hand, was accidentally killed. The car started suddenly, after John Nichols had cranked it.

STRIKE CALLED OFF

Chicago, March 26—(AP)—The Cleaners, Dyers & Pressers' Union voted to call off the strike scheduled for today which would have thrown 35,000 persons out of employment. The action was in response to a telegram from Senator Wagner, chairman of the National Labor Board, which was read yesterday.

BROTHER STATE HEALTH CHIEF IS ARRESTED TODAY

Harold Jirka Is Charged With Giving Prisoner a Pistol

Chicago, March 26—(AP)—Harold Jirka, brother of Dr. Frank Jirka, State Director of Health, was arrested today and charged with smuggling a revolver into the cell of Frank O'Gara in the county jail last week.

The weapon, loaded, was found in O'Gara's cell under his clothing early Saturday morning. Jail officials had been given a tip that a break was to be attempted at 6 A. M. and that O'Gara was the plotter. The raid on his cell prevented any delivery, and squads of police patrolled the outside of the jail without finding any accomplices.

Harold Jirka is an attorney. His brother, Dr. Frank Jirka, is co-in-law of the late Mayor Anton J. Cermak of Chicago.

Officers Remove Door

Jirka was arrested at his home at 3 A. M. Deputy Sheriffs removing the front door from its hinges when he refused to open it. He was lodged in the county jail.

Sheriff William D. Meyer, who ordered the arrest, said O'Gara's cellmate, Carl De Salvo, had furnished the information alleged to implicate Jirka. The Sheriff said De Salvo made a 20 page written statement asserting Jirka had visited the jail Friday and given O'Gara the loaded revolver on promise of "a reward."

De Salvo himself was a client of Jirka, but was not involved in the same charges. O'Gara, a paroled convict, is held for robbery.

Mrs. Alice Starks Passed Away at Her Daughter's Saturday

Mrs. Alice F. Starks passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Thompson, 616 South Ottawa avenue, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock after an illness of several months duration. She made her home with her daughter for the past two years. Funeral services will be held at the Thompson residence Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Gilbert Stansell, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating and with interment in Woodside cemetery at Lee Center.

Alice F. Sawyer was born in Lee Center, Feb. 14, 1863. She was united in marriage to Samuel B. Starks on Feb. 14, 1882. She is survived by six children, 23 grandchildren and two great grandchildren. Her husband preceded her in death Oct. 10, 1921, as did three daughters, Mrs. Pearl Klapprodt, Mrs. Nellie Klapprodt and an infant daughter, Mattie. Those of the immediate family surviving are: Roy D., of Hartford, S. D.; Mrs. Ethel Schaefer, of Aurora, O.; of Earlville, Mrs. Myrtle McPadden of Hot Springs, Ark.; Frank B., and Mrs. Laura Thompson of this city.

Peoria Life Case is Held in Status Quo by Stay Writ

Springfield, Ill., Mar. 26—(AP)—A stay of mandate was issued by Justice Lott R. Herrick of the Illinois Supreme Court today, holding at status quo the controversy over appointment of receivers for the Peoria Life Insurance Company until the court rules on a rehearing asked by Circuit Judge John M. Niehaus of Peoria.

The court last week ruled that the State Director of Insurance, and not Judge Niehaus, had power to name insurance receivers.

Republicans Will Attend Rally at Amboy Tomorrow

Quite a number of Dixon Republicans have announced their intention of attending the rally and dinner at Amboy tomorrow evening to which all voters are invited. The dinner will be served in the parlors of the Congregational church at 6:30 o'clock, following which a program of addresses, featured by Hon. Epler C. Mills of Cass county, candidate for Congressman-at-large, will be heard. All candidates present will be introduced and permitted to speak briefly.

ARMY AIRMAIL BILL SENT TO THE PRESIDENT House Finished Congressional Action on it Today

Washington, March 24—(AP)—The House today approved the administration's temporary airmail bill, completing congressional action on the measure. It now goes to the White House.

There was no doubt on Capitol Hill that Roosevelt would sign it. Without a dissenting vote, the House adopted a conference report compromising its differences with the Senate.

In final form, the bill authorizes the Postmaster General to use Army airplanes and equipment for mail carrying; requires that the planes be equipped for "safe" day and night flying and the pilots trained in the use of the equipment; allows payment of expenses incurred by men used in the mail service; permits the replacement and repair of planes lost or damaged in mail service and directs the Postmaster General to tell Congress on the first day of its next session how much it cost to have the Army carry the mails.

CHICAGOAN TO LEAVE TONIGHT TO GET INSULT

Martin Insull to be Returned this Week to Answer Charge

Chicago, March 26—(AP)—Lieut. Frank Johnson of the State's Attorney's corps will leave for Toronto tonight to take custody of Martin J. Insull, awaiting extradition on charges of larceny and embezzlement from the utilities investment companies he and his brother, Samuel Insull, formerly operated.

Word was received today that legal technicalities had been completed and Insull was ready for removal.

Insull, detained in a Toronto jail, will be able to obtain freedom here by posting $75,000 bond.

Toronto, March 26—(AP)—A warrant for the extradition of Martin J. Insull, former Chicago utilities operator, arrived here today from the United States. Shortly after a warrant of surrender was signed.

The warrant of surrender was held ready for Deputy Sheriff Frank K. Johnson of Cook county, Illinois, who is to return Insull to Chicago to face trial on charges of embezzlement and grand larceny.

The issuance of the warrant of surrender was understood to be the final step in Canada toward Insull's extradition. It followed an order of commitment authorized some days ago by Sir William Mulock, Chief Justice of Ontario, after Insull lost an appeal against extradition.

Funeral of Mrs. Mary Ruggles to be Held Tomorrow

Mrs. Mary Ruggles passed away at her home, 811 College avenue, Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Funeral services will be held from the home Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Lloyd W. Walker, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, officiating and with interment in the Prairie Repose cemetery at Amboy.

Mrs. Ruggles was born in Vester-veek, Sweden, March 22, 1842, coming alone to the United States at the age of 28 years. She was united in marriage to Charles Henry Ruggles in Chicago, March 4, 1874. Her husband preceded her in death 42 years ago. Three sons, William, Marcus and Benjamin also preceded her in death. There are surviving four sons, Charles H., Orville, Edward and Albert; one daughter, Mrs. Louise Frank; and three grandchildren. She was confirmed in the Lutheran faith at her home in Sweden and was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church of this city.

Two Uninvited White House Guests Taken to Washington Hospital for Observation; One Fought Officers

Washington, March 26—(AP)—Two uninvited White House visitors today were held at Gallinger hospital here for mental observation.

Agreement Reached Sunday Night in Washington.

Washington, March 26—(AP)—President Roosevelt looks for a new order in the relations between the working man and his employer as a result of his eleven-hour settlement of the controversy that threatened a general strike in the automobile industry.

He and Gen. Hugh S. Johnson obtained an agreement from executives and labor leaders last night after weeks of negotiations. It established representation for all employees in dealings with management, while extending fresh safeguards to all unions against intimidation or interference.

"It is my hope," said the President, "that this system may develop into a kind of works council in industry in which all groups of employees, whatever may be their choice of organization or form of representation, may participate in joint conference with their employers."

He hailed this as basis for a more comprehensive, adequate and equitable system of relations than ever has existed in a large industry.

Three-Man Board

Under the agreement the NRA planned to complete before nightfall a three-man board, with one neutral member and one from either side. It will sit in Detroit and there settle all questions of employee representation, including discharges and claims of discrimination.

The name of Richard E. Byrd of Pontiac, Mich., was handed to the President by spokesmen of the automobile workers as their nominee to represent labor on the three-man mediation board.

The motor car executives had several men in mind as their representative, but put off a definite choice until later today. Johnson also had several in mind to serve as the third or neutral member.

Decisions of this board shall be final, and it shall have access to all payrolls and union lists. On the basis of these it shall apportion the number of employee representatives in each plant—A. F. of L. company union or other union—in ratio to the number of men belonging to each.

Union Lists Secret

The union lists need not be disclosed to the management except on order of the President himself, but unless they are, union men cannot bring claims of discrimination.

In laying off men, when the high production period ends, the companies are pledged to consider "human relationships" first—to protect the jobs of married men with seniority, individual skill and efficient service as guides. Past that point, they may not lay off a greater proportion of men belonging to outside unions than of other employees.

"Outside union employees" are defined as paid-up members in good standing "or anyone legally obligated to pay up."

This agreement was accepted by both sides with expression of satisfaction.

BUSINESS AS USUAL

Detroit, Mar. 26—(AP)—Employers and workers in Michigan's automobile factories drew together under a presidential peace pact today and looked ahead to what promises to be the best season since 1931.

"Business as usual" was the order at the factories in Detroit, Flint, Pontiac and Lansing where only a few days ago workers were filing through the gates at the end of a day's work without knowing whether they would return in the morning.

The center of interest shifted today from Washington to Detroit here an NRA board is to be set up to pass on questions of representation, discharge and discrimination.

It was the consensus of union meetings in four cities last night that labor's demands had been satisfactorily met.

The Mason and Dixon line is the boundary between the states of Maryland and Pennsylvania.

CONGRESS GETS REQUEST TODAY FOR AN INQUIRY

Educator is Ready to Reveal Sources of His Information

Washington, March 26—(AP)—A resolution for a congressional investigation of statements by Dr. William A. Wirt, Gary, Indiana educator, that members of the Roosevelt "brain trust" said they were attempting to overthrow the present government, was introduced today by Representative Bulwinkle (D. N. C.).

It appeared likely the investigation—to be made by a select House committee—would be ordered. Speaker Rainey referred the resolution to the House Rules committee and Bulwinkle said he would ask for early hearings with a view to getting House action.

The inquiry would be conducted by five members to be appointed by the Speaker.

The committee would be directed "to conduct a thorough investigation of the truth or falsity of the statements alleged to have been made" by Wirt.

Bulwinkle said Speaker Rainey and Representative Byrnes, the Democrats' leader, had expressed approval of his move for the investigation.

"I may ask unanimous consent late today for the House to approve it so we can get action right away," Bulwinkle said.

"FIGUREHEAD CONGRESS"

Gary, Ind., March 26—(AP)—Dr. William A. Wirt declared that if certain pending legislation is passed, the next Congress will be, in effect, little more than a figurehead.

The founder and head of Gary's "model school system," said last night that "I believe the country ought to be made aware that if present legislation in Congress is enacted, if measures we have been led to believe were temporary become permanent, we will have lost much of our American liberty."

"During the next two months legislation will probably be passed which will make all elections to Congress unimportant. It will not matter who the people elect. Our next Congress will not be able to do much."

Asks Investigation

Earlier in the day Dr. Wirt asked investigation by a special congressional committee of his charges that certain members of the so-called "brain trust" plotted revolution.

"When, in my estimation, the welfare of the country demands that the names of my informants be made public," he said, "I shall declare them."

He had attributed to one of the President's advisers the statement that "we can keep Mr. Roosevelt there until we are ready to supplant him with a Stalin."

AMPLIFIES CHARGES

Washington, March 26—(AP)—Dr. William A. Wirt says in a copyright article in today's Post he will name the persons who told him of "radical" plots to overthrow the United States government "when in my estimation the welfare of the country demands that the names be made public."

Wirt, head of the Gary, Ind., schools, in a letter read to the House Inter-State Commerce committee last week, said that attempts to overthrow the present government were being made within the Roosevelt administration.

"Last December," he says in the Post, "about 100 intellectual radicals publicly threatened President Roosevelt with their group resignation unless he accepted their viewpoint as his."

Means Lost Liberty

Wirt also asserted in the paper that much of the administration's emergency legislation meant loss of fundamental liberty to the American people. Under it, he said, the government can be "judge, jury and prosecutor."

The demand to know the names of his informants, he characterized as "the usual move to distract attention from the real issues."

"I can not willingly permit a smoke screen to be drawn over the activities of the radical group while people are led to concentrate on the crucifixion of two or three culprits."

Chicken Roll

1-2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
1-4 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons fat
1 egg
1-2 cup milk

Mix flour, baking powder and salt. Cut in fat and add egg. Mix with knife, slowly add milk. The exact amount can not always be determined so add it carefully. When a soft dough forms, pat it out until 1-4 inch thick. Spread with chicken mixture.

Chicken Mixture

1 cup diced cooked chicken
1 egg
2 tablespoons chopped celery
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
2 tablespoons chicken stock or gravy.

1-8 teaspoon salt
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon milk

Mix chicken, egg, celery, parsley, stock and salt. Spread on soft dough. Quickly roll up like a jelly roll. Spread top with milk. Bake in shallow pan 20 minutes in a moderate oven.

Chilled Fruit Compote

1 cup diced pineapple
1-2 cup sliced oranges
1-2 cup sliced bananas
1-3 cup sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1-2 cup coconut

Mix fruits, sugar and juice. Chill and arrange portions in glass cups. Sprinkle with coconut and serve immediately.

To Continue Art Work in New York

Miss Constance Wingert, daughter of Attorney and Mrs. E. E. Wingert, left Saturday for New York City where she will continue her art work. Miss Wingert is talented and is especially good in figure drawing and painting and portraiture. Miss Wingert, in painting a face, is able to do that most difficult thing, grasp the soul's reflection and the true charm of the personality of the subject. Last year Miss Wingert's attractive display of paintings and drawings at the Geisenheimer store were true evidence of her talent. Her friends wish her success in New York City, which is a great art center.

Interesting New Books at Library

Men in White—Kingley

The first play in a year to which Burns Mantle has accorded his "four star" rating, it has taken New York by storm. It deals with the medical profession and with a young doctor's initiation to the rigorous realities by which alone the profession of medicine can maintain its high ethical level. In highly dramatic and exciting terms, Mr. Kingley develops the conflict between the doctor and his fiancée to the tragic consequences of his attempt to mix the things of the world with his duty.

Breakfast in Bed—By Sylvia Thompson

By breakfast time you have not only met the cast, but you know them, for you have waked, washed, and dressed them, seen them without their daytime masks, and you are ready to follow them with understanding through the subtleties of a novel which has all the sharpness of thought and brilliance of line that one expects of Sylvia Thompson.

Tropical Fishes for a Private Aquarium—Coates

A guide for the amateur collector and breeder of tropical fish, written in non-technical style, by a curator in the New York Aquarium. Covers identification of varieties, breeding, feeding, and treatment of diseases. Well illustrated.

I Went to Pit College—Giffillan

A strictly factual account of the experience of a college girl, in a Pennsylvania mining town. In an absorbing narrative, virtually a novel, she tells how she lived this life, disguised as a boy, dwelling in the miners' hovels, entering the mines, "Pit College" with its scabs, standing picket with the strikers, sharing their food, or, with them, doing without. Always aware of the adventure and the inherent humor of her experience, Miss Giffillan has caught and set down for us the very substance of an important social group, and one whose need of being understood by the world becomes daily more important.

African Intrigue—Baton

A dramatic retelling of the story of an expedition of four Germans in 1911 set out across the African jungles and deserts ostensibly on a safari, but actually with a secret mission to explore the French Sudan, and investigate its mineral and military possibilities. Whether or not it tells a true tale is not now a matter of much consequence. What does matter is that it is a great yarn, a thrilling narrative of adventure, perils, daring almost beyond belief. The book can with equal fairness be judged as both novel and history, on both counts it comes out on top.

Robber Barons—Josephson

They were Jay Cooke, J. Pierpont Morgan, John D. Rockefeller, Commodore Vanderbilt, Andrew Carnegie, Jim Fiske, Jr., Jay Gould, Collis Huntington, James Hill, Edward Harriman, Henry Frick, Leland Stanford, and others. These were the men who seized power in America after the Civil War. They usurped natural resources, controlled political institutions, and turned the social philosophy into dollar philosophy. The author has shown how they acquired power, how they used it, how they sanctified it, what progress they made, and what catastrophe they made possible.

New Dealers—By Unofficial Observer

Though pro-administration, the book is written as amusingly as if it were anti. From the author's view, the New Deal, new measures, and new necessities have crowded the back-slappers off the stage and are giving the public a political fan-dance of mammoth proportions. I think it is about time somebody looked behind the measures for the men who make them. So I have tried to set down, as fairly as I can, the chief facts about fifty odd important personalities—how they got that way in the first place, what they have done about it, how they get along with each other, and what they're like as human beings.

Nijinsky—Romola Nijinsky

A biography of one of the greatest dancers of modern times. There is enough romance, tragedy, and beauty in it to fill half a dozen novels. It has all the glamor of the Imperial Russian Ballet of Diaghileff thronged with the great artists of today—Here is Nijinsky, young, famous, the center of one stormy triumph after another, an original genius under the sway of the modern, Svengali, Diaghileff. Diaghileff dominates the dancer utterly until a beautiful Hungarian society girl falls in love with him and wins him away from his manager. Today, Nijinsky, clouded in mind, sits in a Swiss mad house, painting weird pictures whose symbols echo the glory and frustration of his astonishing career.

Klees and Kleintje—Marian King

Klees is a little Dutch boy who won the Tre Boat Race, and Kleintje is his pet white duck who won the Pet Contest. Profusely and delightfully illustrated. For children 8-13.

African Shadows—Mochi

Full page illustrations in black and white of two hundred animals and birds of Africa, with short descriptive explanations. For children 10-14.

The library is glad to accept books in good condition as gifts. Money for books is also acceptable.

Top Off the Easter Dinner With a Tasty Ambrosia Pie

By NEA Service—

Guaranteed to make the Easter dinner party a success is an Ambrosia pie. It's the kind of decorative dessert that can be placed right on the table, cut and served there, thus giving your guests a chance to feast their eyes as well as appease their appetites. Here's the recipe:

Combine one-half cup of flour with three-quarters cup of sugar and one-fourth teaspoon of salt in top of a double boiler. Add one and one-quarter cups of water and two egg yolks, slightly beaten. Mix thoroughly. Place over hot water and cook ten minutes, or until thickened, stirring constantly.

Remove from the fire, add one-half cup of orange juice, two tablespoons of lemon juice, four tablespoons of grated orange rind and one-half teaspoon of grated lemon rind. Chill the mixture and pour into a nine-inch pie shell.

The pie is then covered with a luscious meringue, made this way:

Put two egg whites, unbeaten, one-half cup of sugar, dash of salt and two tablespoons of water in top of double boiler. Beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Then place over rapidly boiling water and beat one minute. Remove from the fire and continue beating two minutes longer or until mixture will stand in peaks.

Pile the meringue lightly on the pie, arrange orange sections on top and sprinkle lavishly with coconut. Then, unlike most pies that are put into the oven to brown the meringue, this one is ready to be served.

Play at St. James Church, March 29th

A three act play, "A Little Clodhopper" will be given at the St. James church Thursday evening, March 29th.

This play is a comedy drama of American life. Judy, a little clodhopper from the poor house, has been deserted by her father, who since has become rich and is ill in a hospital in Texas. He asks Mrs. Chigerson-Boggs, who had been matron of the poorhouse to help him locate his daughter. She schemes to marry Judy to her son George, when she learns Judy is to become an heiress. Judy is afraid of Mrs. Boggs and dislikes George. Her life for a while is filled with tricks and troubles. She is aided by her friend, Septimus Green the book agent who helps her find her father and her once unhappy nature is changed so that she has every wish her little heart desires.

The characters are as follows: Septimus Green, a lively young book agent full of pep Robert Moore Okey Gump, a fresh country product, by heck! Harold Eberly George Chigerson, an innocent little lamb from the city Robert Miller Chigerson-Boggs, George's doting mamma, with a smooth scheme Rosella Culp Miss Julietta Bear, a Spinerville boarding housekeeper Jean Rosbrook Charman Carter, a young movie actress who things she's a vampire Ida Topper Judy, a ragged little clodhopper from the poorhouse Ethel Topper

Junior Leaders Met on Tuesday

The Girl Scout Junior Leaders held their meeting last Tuesday evening at the home of Georgiana Shaw. After a short business meeting Mrs. Lyle Prescott and Mrs. A. C. Bowers gave an interesting musical program.

Mrs. Bowers talked on the life anyone would lead if she went to a conservatory or school of music. Mrs. Prescott played several selections on the piano among them some of her own compositions.

Light refreshments were served after which the girls played a game and the meeting was closed with the singing of taps.

Meeting of Leonard School P. T. A. Well Attended Fri. Night

The Leonard School P. T. A. held their March meeting at the school Friday evening with an attendance of 80 people.

The meeting was called to order by the chairman, Mrs. John Scott. In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Harry Thompson acted as secretary.

The usual order of business followed.

Plans were made to sponsor a play by the Dixon Dramatic Club in the near future.

At the close of the business session the meeting was turned over to the program committee and the following program was much enjoyed.

Group singing.

"Sewing Society."—Play given by seven school children.

Ukeolin Solo—Elaine Josephson.

Harmonica Solo—Bill Powers.

Guitar Solo—Helen Hinds.

"School Lunch"—talk and demonstration—Marjorie Wolcott.

Vocal solo—David Jones.

Reading—Ann Miller.

Each number was very well rendered and an encore requested and granted. After the program the seats of the school were moved to one side of the room and a recreation period in which all took active part followed.

A very tasty lunch of sandwiches, cake, pickles and coffee was served by the refreshments committee and was an enjoyable finish to a complete evening.

Easter Parade to Be Streamlined and Wind Blown, Also

By MARY E. PLUMMER

New York, March 26 —(AP)—If Palm Sunday weather is any indication, the Easter parade next Sunday will be really windblown; and gusty breezes will be right in time with the new spring clothes, for the people who planned them gave them a wind-swept movement.

This year's parade, which will bring out the new spring clothes on every city's main street, will be streamlined and sailor-hatted, too. And it will be the bluest parade in years.

Navy blue suits, shoes and hats will far outweigh all other colors. This probably will be the most widely worn Easter costume.

A blue suit of some type. White or pastel accessories. As to flowers—gardenias or violets.

Probably the next most popular garb will be a "redingote" wrap, worn over a print dress. Cortwheel hats, orchids, bracelets sleeves and wide pointed lapels also will be seen.

Men will be in the Easter parade, too, but they will be plain men playing a minor role.

If their silk hats and cigars are poised at a jaunty angle it will be because business is better than at Easter last year. (The average gain in pre-Easter retail sales over last year was placed at 48 per cent by a business review.)

Mrs. George Dixon Entertained Presbyterian Missionary Soc.

Friday, March 23 the Presbyterian Missionary society met at the home of Mrs. George C. Dixon, 21 members being present. Prayer was offered by the president, Miss Hitchcock for missionaries, both foreign and national.

The secretary and Treasurer gave their reports, both annual and for previous meetings.

The secretary's reported meetings of Executive Board.

All annual reports from the different chairmen were given. The "devotional period" was in charge of Mrs. Terrill who read from the 15th Chapter of John. A number of sentence prayers were offered.

Mrs. Bartholomew then gave a very concise and interesting talk on the meaning of stewardship. This was followed by a stewardship play given by Mrs. Durkes, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. Edwards, Mrs.

FIRST SHOWING of the 4-H CLUB GIRLS' NEW 1934 UNIFORM

WHEN the girl and boy delegates, representing nearly a million 4-H Club members from all over the United States, meet in Washington, D. C., this June, for their Eighth Annual 4-H Club Camp, the girls will be wearing an attractive new club uniform which has its first showing in COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, March, 1934.

"The girls will be in step with the newest fashion," says Mary Grace Ramey, fashion editor. "The new design has a smart high neckline, necklines being very important this year, with a trim Peter Pan type of collar, with which a silk tie fastened like a four-in-hand will be worn. The frock has the extended shoulder line to give the blouse the new broad look and there is a slight curve in the design for freedom of movement.

"Their lovely costumes will be in green and white," Mrs. Ramey explains, "the dress and jacket being green with the collar, tie and chic beret in white.

"The approved new design is being shown early in COUNTRY GENTLEMAN so that the 4-H Club Girls may use it for a sewing project under the direction of their State Leaders."

Thursday with Mrs. Mildred Hill, who lives northeast of Harmon, and who will be assisted as hostess by Mrs. Martin Brechon.

Shannon Man Was 94 Saturday

Shannon, Ill., March 26—Henry Kness, who makes his home with his daughter, Mrs. Peter Johann, quietly observed his ninety-fourth birthday anniversary on Saturday.

Grandpa Kness, as he is known to many, is enjoying good health.

He was born March 25, 1840, in Sellinrod, Hessen Darmstadt, Germany, the son of Katharine Rahn and Warner Kness. He had two brothers and two sisters, who with his parents have died.

As a young man, he was a shoemaker by trade. On Oct. 18, 1866, he was married to Christina Miller. To this union, three children were born, William, who lives at Brookville; Henry, who died at his home in Brookville about eight months ago; and Emma with whom he makes his home.

DO YOU REMEMBER ?

By Helen Welshimer

DO you remember, one day in a garden . . .
A lovely dreamland in the heart of town . . .
With warm winds stirring in the idle bushes,
And all around tall buildings looking down,
The way we stooped to find the hidden flowers
As we walked slowly down the quiet path,
Or sailed wide leaves within the pool the fountain
Had left for us as clear blue aftermath?

THE city's noise was vague and hushed . . . the garden
Was Paradise . . . and we had come at noon,
A burnished noon whose flame-sun made a summer
That breathless hour within the heart of June.
A stone's throw from the verdant sanctuary
The city rumbled . . . We were set apart
From life that hour inside a cloistered garden . . .
It's spring again . . . the buildings press my heart.

AGE MIGHT HELP SAVE YOUTH FROM DESPAIR.

You would think that suicide would be the refuge of old and beaten men—people tired by life, discouraged, brought to the end of the tether by disappointment and hard luck, facing a future that could not possibly hold for them anything to compare with their dreams.

But somehow it doesn't always work out that way. Youth can grow as despondent as age, sometimes. Only the other day a young student in a middlewestern university gave way to worries about his studies and took his life.

And it makes one wish that it were easier for an older person to go to one of these worried and discouraged youngsters and explain that the difficulties of youth are never quite as big and overpowering as they seem.

A lad's career isn't hopelessly ruined because he fails to master the intricacies, say, of analytical geometry; failure in a college course usually becomes one of those things at which a mature man looks back with nothing more than a rueful smile.

Yet there is a barrier between youth and maturity which the best of advice all too often is quite unable to span. We who are older have had our defeats, and we have accepted them. We have gone with our feet shod in light, only to discover that kind of footgear isn't suitable for tramping through mire and brambles.

Youth has all that to learn; and because it has, it has a way of refusing to listen to us when we try to explain that those catastrophes of the late 'teens and early twenties are never quite as bad as they seem.

For each young man is buoyed up by the conviction that he is different. Other men have dreamed dreams and seen them dissolve; he is something special, his dreams will be realized, his battles will be victories.

It is because youth believes this that it is always willing to die on battlefields, or on barricades, to lead lost causes, to tackle a smudged and time-stained world with bright confidence.

Then, sooner or later, the youngster has to find out that it isn't so. And there is where our wisest and most sympathetic counsel is needed. If we can give it, and get it listened to, we can save a youngster from black despair.

Sometimes we can't; and then, if luck is bad, we have that most pathetic of all tragedies—the suicide of a young man.

FOR SALE—STATE BUSINESS

South Dakota is going out of business. It engaged in coal mining and other enterprises, having been stung by the bee that came over from North Dakota under auspices of the Nonpartisan league and Mr. Townley.

North Dakota made a mess of state ownership of all the lines of business that popularly were supposed to be gouging the people. Now South Dakota has concluded it has enough of the experiment and it is offering its business assets for sale.

After seventy-five years of community effort, held together by religious ties, strongest of all ties, the Amana colony renounced its communistic plan and capitalized its assets and made money last year.

Yet our professors who lugged their soviet ideas to Washington ask to have all our history discredited and communistic ideas adopted as a grand social experiment in the face of failures on every side.

OUR OUTMODED GOVERNMENT

Announcement is made by Attorney General Cummings that a grand jury is to investigate the income tax returns of Andrew Mellon, former secretary of the treasury. If indictments are returned he will be tried in a federal court before a jury.

Is there no means by which some bureaucrat can pronounce economic death upon the Mellon industries without such "outmoded" and cumbersome procedure as trial by jury?

Can not the President under "a broad policy" throw Mr. Mellon et al. into jail and investigate afterward. Trial by jury?

Some one has blundered.

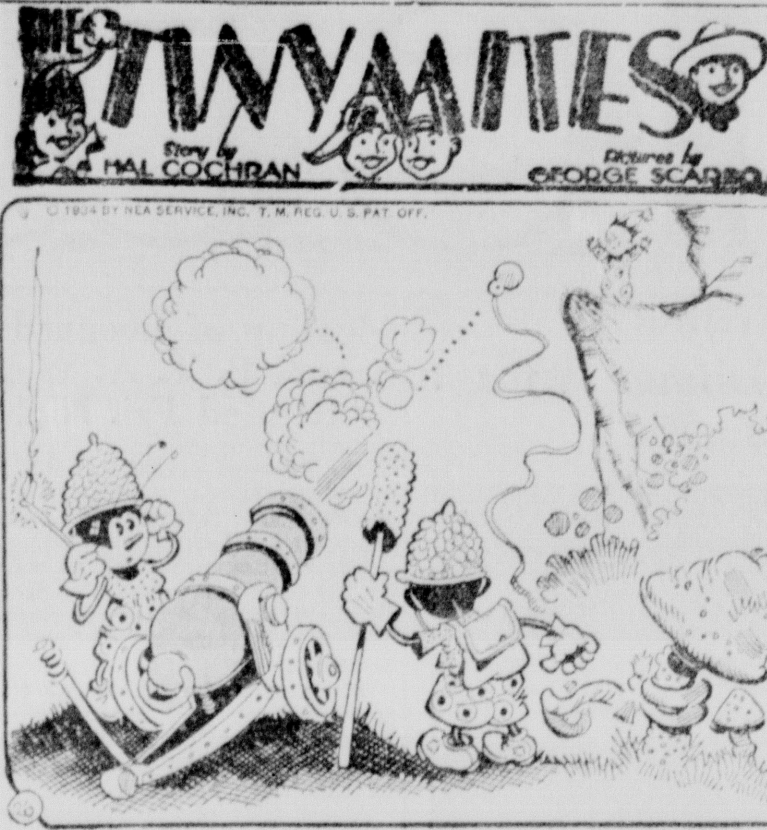

The most urgent necessity in the world today is for thinking people to stem the tide of approaching war.—Emma Goldman, famous anarchist.

There are dark clouds over Asia, and we must be prepared to defend ourselves if necessary.—Real Admiral Paul Oras, naval attache to the Soviet embassy at Washington.

As far as foreign policy is concerned, Hitler is the only statesman in the world who knows what he wants.—Raymond Leslie Buell, president of the Foreign Policy Association.

You can keep a dog hungry for a long time, but you can't grab a bone from him without being bitten.—Norman Thomas.

The cultural ideal of the present-day America is not so much knowledge as it is the desire and ability for accomplishment.—Prof. Albert Einstein.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

Wee Duncy, 'way up in the air, had really had an awful scare when he first saw the eagle. Then he turned to having fun.

"Say, teaching birds to fly," he cried, "is not so hard, when once it is tried. They catch on very quickly, when you show them how it's done."

One little bird was winging all round, about two feet up off the ground. The mother eagle seemed quite pleased and gaily flapped her wings.

"Don't worry," Duncy said, "I'll teach them all to fly. Then you can screech aloud, to show me that you're glad I've taught the little things."

The other Tines still were out to locate Duncy. "I am about all tired out," said little Goldy. "I am going to rest right here."

An ant replied, "Oh, kindly try to hike along. A stream's nearby. When we reach there, I think you all will have real cause for much cheer."

So, on they went. It wasn't far, and Scouty soon said, "Here we are, but why did we pick out this spot? Poor Duncy's not around." "Oh, isn't he?" an ant replied. "Just look up at that mountain side." They looked and saw wee Duncy. Copy cried, "At last he is found."

Real shortly Duncy spied them, too. He jumped up and yelled, "Hurray for you!" "Stay where you are," exclaimed an ant. "We'll bring you down, I hope."

"We are going to shoot this cannon, see? And, if we're lucky, we can be, you'll see something sail through the air, and it will be a rope."

The cannon then was aimed just right. It was quickly fired, and made a frightful noise. Wee Windy loudly shouted, "Geet! That sure was great!"

"The rope is on its way right now," I hope it will reach our friend, somehow. Then Duncy can grab hold of it. Oh, I can hardly wait!"

(Duncy joins the Tynmites in the next story.)

Living Our Everyday Lives

DO YOU AGREE?

(By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton.)

A gentleman has been defined as a man who refuses to take out of life more than he puts into it. A leader is a man who, taking out from fact, achieves a flight of faith, and then makes a good landing on reality.

Time lives forever, only the days and years die—like withered leaves falling from the tree of life.

"Mankind advances, but man remains the same"; human nature has not much changed since man became acquainted with it.

The strongest characters are those which can face up to a misfortune; it takes grit to admit that we are not infallible.

It is not fear of death that torments men today, but the fear of not really living—letting life slip by unloved.

If a man talks about himself so much that he has no chance to talk about ourselves, he is a bore and we mark him off.

As a doctor adds to his labels and definitions, his patients add to the list of their infirmities, by a law of sympathy.

Humor is salt and soul—a quick insight into absurdity, and the power of forgiving it while making mock of it.

We are accountable for the uprightness of our thinking, not for its rightness, else heaven would be for rent.

A debt is not a debt but a disaster; when the state begins to feed half of the people, it prepares all to be slaves.

Some words are deeds; they have a life of their own and grow, peopling the vacuity of Time and making it rich.

Sorrow and joy are the dogs of that unknown Shepherd of souls who guides the human flock along a hidden path.

Man seeks food, fellowship and security; in economics, security for what he owns; in religion, security for what he is.

An old Saint told us the truth: "Lord, Thou hast made us for Thyself, and our hearts are restless till they rest in Thee."

PILLAR OF SALT

By L. L. R.

FEAR

Immediately after taking the oath which made him President, Mr. Roosevelt turned to his countrymen—a few before him, millions before him—speakers in their homes—and, in a clear and unhalting tone, he painted a word-picture of hope.

"We have nothing to fear but fear itself." When the young Americans of today become the old sages of tomorrow, their mental ramblings will take them back to March 4th, 1933.

Following the inauguration were days of hurried activity. Things were being done. The new President reported to the people at his "fireside discussions." The Roosevelt smile was contagious, and people were happier. Fear had, in all appearances, departed.

When, at last, confidence in banks had been restored and national recovery was advancing on a definitely marked course, the nation took time to breathe and to look back into the valley, marveling in the distance it had climbed. It was no longer necessary for the President to act as the press agent of good feeling. Let the people tire of his ice pictures and smile, he took the role of director and relinquished that of featured actor.

He evidently reasoned that people demand only that which they do not have, and so he began to use the limelight only sparingly.

As we stand now within view of the flat land above the dark valley, it is interesting to study this matter of fear. We have seen it taken from the masses. In their case, it is replaced by hope—hope that something would be done for them. If we will now look closely, we will see that fear has not completely disappeared. Although shoved aside last summer, it has again been uncovered.

Those who now fear are the bankers and the small industrialists. Because the banker fears to loosen credit in favor of the small industrialist, the latter is in constant fear of being forced out of business entirely. Just as the fears of the masses, the wage earners, were allayed, so will be those of the small industrialist.

A bill is now before Congress which would authorize the establishment of twelve new banks, one in each Federal Reserve district, whose sole purpose would be to make short-term loans to industrialists. In addition, there is another bill before Congress which would allow the RFC to make similar loans.

As for the bankers, they have refused a plan whereby they could have loaned money and credit to industry. Under this plan, they would have been required to put out, from their own funds, only a small portion of the total amount of the loans; yet they refused. Under the permanent policies of the Federal government, the fears of the bankers are not contagious. So we hope only for the good of the bankers themselves that those gentlemen ally their own fears.

EASTER CUSTOMS around the World

At Honolulu, "the crossroads of the Pacific," Easter services are held each year at the crater of an extinct volcano. On this hill of once molten lava, a great white cross is erected and here countless thousands of Christians, embracing many creeds, classes, nationalities, races and colors, meet at sunrise after riding or walking up the steep ascent. Separate services are held in various churches later in the day, but the unique sunrise worship is for all.

"YOU LEARN WHAT Safety is worth ON A JOB LIKE MINE!"

A CERTIFIED INTERVIEW WITH MISS DOLENA MacDONALD—NURSE—OF BOSTON, MASS.

"That's why I bought a Plymouth...it's got Hydraulic Brakes and a Safety-Steel Body"

IT'S SECOND NATURE for a nurse to think about safety first. So when Miss MacDonald set out to buy a new car, safety was in her mind.

And after looking at "All Three" low-priced cars... she picked Plymouth.

She feels safer with Hydraulic Brakes. For they are always equalized... they stop her more quickly, and without side-skidding.

And common sense told her a Safety-Steel Body, of steel reinforced with steel, is safer than other types.

Miss MacDonald found that Plymouth alone, in the lowest-price field, offered her both these safety features.

THINK ABOUT SAFETY when you buy your next car. And about comfort, too. Plymouth's Individual Wheel Springing plus Floating Power engine mountings give you a smoother, more comfortable ride.

Any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer will gladly demonstrate the New Plymouth at your convenience.

It's a Racket, Mayor Tells New Yorkers

Just to show New Yorkers that they can't expect a "break" when they drop nickels in slot machines, Mayor La Guardia himself opened an exhibit of the machines at Rockefeller Center to illustrate their operation. He called it "mechanical larceny".

Tim McGrath, the old-time fight promoter, once ran a saloon in San Francisco known as "The Tip". Naturally it was frequented by fighters—and into it one day, very much in his cups, walked "Deacon" Jones, famous colored fighter.

"Deacon" demanded a drink, and the bartender refused to give it to him. "White boy," he shouted, "Ah's gwine to pull yo' bar down if you don't give me dat drink!" Whereupon he commenced tugging at the bar.

It so happened that this incident occurred on the morning of April 18, 1906, the date of the San Francisco earthquake. While Jones was tugging at the bar the earthquake struck, and it tumbled "The Tip" down around his ears.

A minute later the fighter dug himself out of the wreckage and stammered: "Please tell Mr. McGrath Ah'm sorry Ah caused such a disturbance."

CATHOLIC HIGH OF JOLIET WON NATIONAL HIGH 'Baldy' Carroll Turns Out Third Championship Cage Squad

Chicago, Mar. 26—(AP)—"Baldy" Carroll has done it again. For the third time since "Baldy" took over the coaching reins at Catholic high, Joliet, in 1927, his team won the national Catholic prep basketball championship last night, making a fast finish to defeat St. Mary's of Stockton, Cal., 30 to 17 in the finals.

"Baldy's" boys, under the title of De LaSalle, won the same championship in 1927 and 1928 against a field open to the best Catholic high school teams in the nation.

Don McGann, Joliet's six foot, five inch center, led the hilltoppers to their third title with six field goals and a free throw, for 13 points, the exact margin of victory.

With ten minutes to go, the score in the championship final was knotted at 14-14, McGann and his mates broke loose and could not be stopped thereafter.

GRIMM LOOKS TO YOUNGSTERS AND TO CHUCK KLEIN

While White Sox Boss Expects Much From His New Players

(Note: This is the thirteenth of a series of stories dealing with 1934 prospects of major league baseball clubs.)

By PAUL ZIMMERMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Los Angeles, March 26—(AP)—Chicago's Cubs are going to gamble on Chuck Klein, National League batting champion of 1933, and a bunch of promising rookies for the added impetus they believe will carry them to the top in the 1934 pennant race.

Determined youth has been injected into the club in every department and Manager Charles Grimm feels confident their presence has improved the club both defensively and offensively.

"In my years of baseball experience," said the genial Mr. Grimm, "I have never seen a pitcher with a finer change of pace." He was speaking of Dick Ward, who won 25 games to lead the Pacific Coast League last year. And he rates Bill Lee, another right hander from the American Association, and Roy Joiner, of the west coast, almost as high.

He is sure this trio, along with last season's staff, Lon Warneke, Bud Tinning, Guy Bush, Charley Root and Pat Malone, will be able to stand off the opposition while Klein and his mates lead a heavy hitting assault.

Grimm Likes Klein

Klein, who hit .368 with the Phillies last year, as the most valuable player in the league. His one worry in the outfield seems to be that of picking the most powerful two out of the five outfielders he has at his call.

Besides Klein, there is young George Stainback, Los Angeles youth who cost the Cubs $70,000, and three veterans of last season, Kiki Cuyler, Riggs Stephenson and Floyd Herman.

The Cub infield also has young blood at its disposal. The starting quartet probably will be Woody English at third, Bill Jurgens, short; Bill Herman, second and Grimm at first. Grimm likes young Augie Galan, another former Coast Leaguer, and probably will keep him for utility work along with either Stanley Hack or Dioph Camilli.

Charles (Gabby) Hartnett, temporarily out because of a broken finger, will again be the mainstay of the catching staff with Henry Tate and Ernest helps the supporting cast.

Grimm does not feel that he is taking too much of a gamble on the array of youngsters in camp. He took the smallest team of Santa Catalina Island in years for spring training in order that more time could be spent on the youngsters.

WHITE SOX PROSPECTS
Los Angeles, Mar. 26—(AP)—On the ability of new players hinges the chances of the Chicago White Sox to pull out of the second division in the American League pennant race this year.

Manager Lew Fonseca, in his drive to rejuvenate the club, has added strength in every department—a much better organization, he believes, than the one he took charge of two years ago but hardly a pennant contender.

He isn't satisfied by any means with the White Stockings as they now line up. For example, Fonseca would like very much to get another catcher. And he believes a southpaw pitcher would help out. But he has a lot of things to be thankful for along with his worries.

Fonseca believes Henry "Eck" Bonura, big, hard-driving hitter from the Texas League will round out one of the best infields in the American League.

Infield Looks Good

With Bonura, who hit .357 last season, at first, Jimmy Dykes at third, Minto Hayes at second and Luke Appling at shortstop, and Ralph Kresse available for any spot, not to mention the manager, Fonseca feels his infield setup is secure. Joe Chamberlin, a shortstop, completes the reserve guard.

Some promising pitchers also have come to gladden his heart. And there's big George Earnshaw, formerly of the Athletics. The outstanding youngsters in the mound corps are Lee Stine from San Francisco; Leslie Tieje who came up from the Texas League; John Pomorski from Montreal, and Phil Galivan, Buffalo.

Of those who finished 1933 with the pale hose are Ted Lyons, Sam Jones, Whitlow Wyatt, Ed Durham and Milton

Gaston, but nowhere in that flock is a portlander.

Catching Troubles

Behind the plate Fonseca has his troubles, although Harold (Muddy) Ruel, recently acquired, may serve as the steady influence for the trio of John Pasek from Detroit; Mervin Shea, St. Louis and Morgan Snyder, a youngster up from Topeka, Kan., of the Western League.

Inability of George "Mule" Haas to get into condition added to Fonseca's worries, for the former Athletic star was forced to leave spring camp and go to Arkansas to undergo treatment for rheumatism.

At Simmons reported in better condition than ever and appears ready to do his usual heavy duty both at the plate and in left field. Supposing Haas will be ready to start the season, the battle for the other outer garden spot will be a three-way affair between Evar Swanson, speed merchant on the foot paths, and two former Pacific Coast Leaguers, Bernie Uhlt and Stanley Boragary.

LOCAL CEMENT MILL IS AGAIN TROPHY WINNER

1933 Safety Award is Recognition of No
Lost-Time Mishap

Chicago, March 26.—(Special)—Operating throughout 1933 without a single lost-time accident, the Medusa Portland Cement Company of Dixon, has again won the Safety Trophy awarded annually by the Portland Cement Association. It was announced here today by J. B. John, chairman of the Committee on Accident Prevention and Insurance of the association.

A previous award was won by the Medusa plant in 1930. L. E. Smith, superintendent of the Dixon mill will be notified of the new award shortly.

With this spotless safety record, the Dixon cement mill joins 36 other mills throughout the United States and Canada in repeating no-accident records achieved in previous years. Also, it was announced, twelve cement plants made their first clean safety records in 1933 and will receive trophies. This makes a total of 49 no-accident records for 1933 among the 160 cement plants entered in the Portland Cement Association safety contest.

The permanent trophy, an eight-ton sculptured monument, which was given to the plant as the original award, will be fittingly inscribed with the date and record of the 1933 safety achievement of the workers in the Dixon plant.

Campaign Growing
During the eleven years in which campaigns for the Portland Cement Association trophy have been carried on by American cement mills, there have been large yearly increases in the number of plants making accident-free records. Starting in 1923, only one plant reported a no-accident record. This was repeated in 1924 and only two mills were eligible by the end of 1926. From 1927 on, the effects of the safety contests have been from two to ten new awards each year with the exception of 1931, when there was a loss of four.

Not only eliminating serious injuries and death, an accident-free year means that plant workers lost no pay for absence due to accidents. Before the safety contests were inaugurated, workers absent from their duties on account of accidents lost thousands of dollars each year.

Twelve newcomers to the accident-free list and 37 re-awards makes an all-time record for safety in the cement industry, said A. J. R. Curtis, assistant to the general manager of the Portland Cement Association. "If there is anything the Association likes better than giving trophies for new records it is making awards to plants that year after year turn in clean safety reports. It is amazing, the results that can be obtained by a drive which constantly reminds workers that safety is the first attribute of an efficient, valuable employee."

"These contests will continue indefinitely with the same vigor, and we know, with the same thrilling results."

HOMELoanBANK OF CHICAGO HAS 262 ON THE LIST

Membership in Federal Institution is Growing Slowly

Chicago, March 26.—(AP)—The number of institutions which are members of the Federal Home Loan Bank of Chicago has increased 15 per cent as compared with January 1, bringing the total to 262, it was announced by R. A. Gardner, president.

The Chicago bank now has 216 members in Illinois, including 92 in Chicago, 12 in suburban Cicero, seven at Springfield, six at Berwyn and four at Peoria. Wisconsin has 46 members, with 24 at Milwaukee. All these institutions, said Gardner, will be beneficiaries of new Home Loan legislation approved by the Senate last week and which has been reported out by the House Banking and Currency committee.

The most far reaching portion of the measure, he said, is that authorizing the Home Owners Loan Corporation to buy bonds or debentures which the Federal Home Loan banks will issue.

"The result of this will be ample credit available to all home loan bank affiliated institutions to meet even the largest loan which has been imagined at the present time," said Gardner.

STATE ASSEMBLY HAS NOT PASSED MANY MEASURES

Makes Slight Progress in Balancing Its Legislative Book

Springfield, Ill., March 26—(AP)—Six weeks of legislative effort have produced slight progress in balancing the books on the subjects included in Governor Horner's call for the third special session.

The legislative ledger today showed that assets, subjects on which action is complete, are far out-weighted by the debts, knotty problems proposed in the call and still waiting solution by assemblymen.

School relief, responsible for a large part of the ledger's red ink, was placed first in the call and now seems farthest from settlement. Of the seventeen other subjects only the five most uncontroversial have been disposed of.

Many Matters Pending

Action on many questions is pending, but little has been accomplished while the school relief battle has swept over both houses, dwarfing other issues, and stirring up bitter controversy.

A deluge of bills, 230 in all, have been introduced in the two houses but not a tenth of these have reached the final stage. There is at least one bill pending on every subject, and dozens of measures on a few issues.

Subjects that legislators consider take care of, at least for this session, include:

1. Enabling legislation for the Century of Progress.
2. Measures facilitating state participation in federal slum-clearance projects.
3. Amendment of inheritance tax laws, and appropriation of $200,000 for tax refunds.
4. Appropriation of $52,261.50 for enforcement of minimum wage laws for women and children.
5. Appropriation of $91,800 for expenses of the session, the question on which all legislators agree.
6. Special legislation for Chicago schools.

Mill Grinds Slowly
While the teachers continue to wage their battle for relief funds, other issues wait their turn in the legislative mill which has ground exceeding small this session.

Mortgage moratoria, the issue that promises to repeat at least the stormy history of school relief, slumber in committee where a drastic revision of the measures is reported to be in progress. Legislation enabling municipalities to borrow federal funds is incomplete; revision of laws governing political sub-divisions, looking toward consolidation of political units, is unfinished, and laws revising bonds of public officials are only partially completed.

Final approval has been given a group of enabling bills for Chicago schools and an appropriation of $261,500 to pay the state's share in sewage projects at three institutions. A measure providing that town, district and county collector's bonds shall be equal to 10 per cent of the highest amount collected in one year by his office in previous five years was also approved.

Controversial measures have met stern opposition from members of both parties who have fixed one eye on the April 10 primary and the November elections. Ambitious politicians have been able to dig up ample campaign material in the subjects in the call.

No possibility remains that the books may be closed in the two weeks before the primary, but some legislators fear there may be an accounting before the ledger is balanced.

HORNER ATTACKS OPPONENTS' HIS DIVERSION PLAN

Counts on Opinion of Public to Put Scheme Over

Springfield, Ill., March 26—(AP)—With highway contractors and a "few isolated municipal office holders" named as the chief opposition, Governor Horner today counted upon public opinion to demand legislative approval of his gas tax diversion plan for school aid.

"It is time that our citizens challenge the right of any group to place their selfish interests above the welfare of the school children of the state," the Governor said.

The address to the people, made two weeks before the April primaries after the third special session had repeatedly failed to agree on school relief, described alternative plans to divert sales and liquor taxes as "merely marsh lights and mirages."

Speaking last night, Horner again pleaded his full support to the gas tax diversion plan saying: "It is equitable and imposes no new burdens on motorists and taxpayers."

SCIENCE WONDER STORIES

Science's Gift To Game Hunters

PROGRESS in the development and improvement of powders for guns is of interest to 8,000,000 sportsmen in the United States. The chemist, in recent years, has sought successfully to improve these powders, and a new powder for shotgun ammunition has now been developed.

In the old days the hunter spent a lot of time cleaning his gun. Every charge that was shot left a sediment that tended to foul the barrel, was somewhat corrosive, and often interfered with the action of the gun. But not any more.

After a great deal of experiment and research, a powder was devised that not only did not leave unburned grains and other sediment in the barrel, but was unimpaired so far as its ballistic stability was concerned even under severe storage conditions. It could be loaded very uniformly.

Here was science's contribution to sport. The gunner of today has available a powder for his ammunition that he can just take and shoot, worrying little about dampness and not at all about the barrels of his gun. The modern hunter need only be a good shot. He does not need to be a mechanic.

JONES MISLAID CALAMITY JANE AND FINE PUTTS

But Greatest Golfer of All Time Is Not a Bit Discouraged

BY ALAN GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor
Augusta, Ga., Mar. 26—(AP)—Now that it's all over and Bobby Jones, Jr., knows what it feels like to come back and take it squarely on his golfing chin, the explanation is quite clear today why the renowned Georgian trailed a dozen professionals in competition for the first time in his career, finishing ten strokes behind the winner, Horton Smith, in the $5000 first annual Masters Invitation tournament.

Jones not only mislaid "Calamity Jane," the putter with which he stroked his way through the greatest golf championship winning streak of all time, but he lost his putting touch along with it.

There may have been some other contributing causes to the fact that he finished no better than a tie for 13th with 294 for 72 holes in the company, incidentally, of the past and present British open champions, Walter Hagen and Denny Shute. But the outstanding fact remains he was soundly beaten because he lacked control and confidence around the greens.

Is Not Discouraged
Far from being discouraged, Jones intends to make this spring joust with his old rivals an annual event. The Augusta National tournament, he said, will be made an annual fixture, adding: "Unless I break down completely, I hope to participate every year, regardless of how I am putting or where I finish."

That's the full extent to which he intends ever to return to competition. Spiking the revival of reports that he might enter this year's National Open at Marion, Pa., Jones said emphatically: "I'm through with all of that—for good. You can make it just as strong as you like that my answer is no."

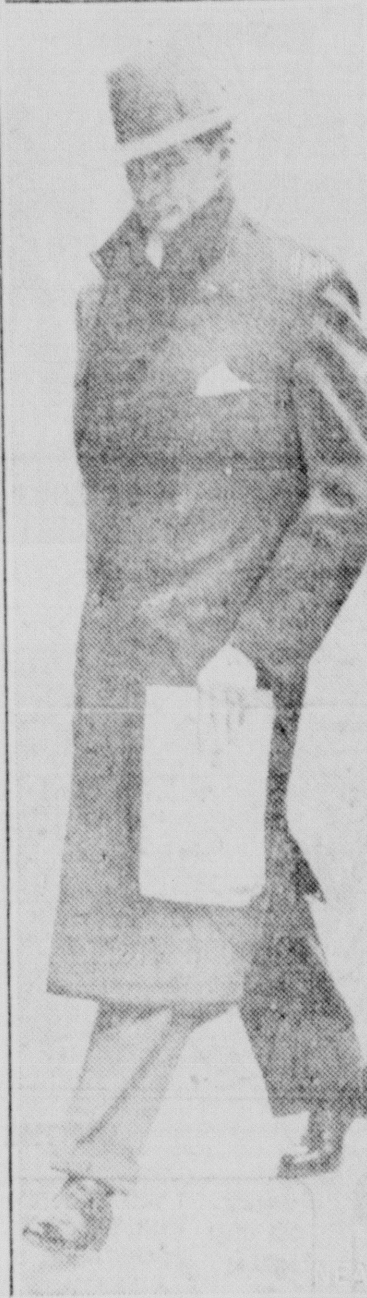

Analysis of Jones' four rounds shows a striking reversal in putting form, even though he was inconsistent to the last. Whereas he took 36 and 38 putts for his first two rounds of 76 and 74, he used only 30 and 32 putts on his closing two rounds, on each of which he carded 72. On this basis, he wasted enough strokes on the greens during the first 36 holes to have wiped out the ten-stroke margin by which he trailed Horton Smith.

Fairly Popular
Smith's victory was as popular as anything could have been with the strongly partisan galleries, short of the hoped-for conquest by their idol, Jones. It was especially dramatic, for the young Missourian was the last to beat Jones in open competition. Smith won a sensational scoring battle from Jones four years ago at Savannah.

Smith's winning 284 was worth $1500, one of the biggest cash awards of the winter. Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., finished a stroke behind Smith and collected $800.

Tied for third place were Bill

Burke of Cleveland, former open champion, and young Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., the tournament favorite, each carding 286 and winning $550 apiece.

Others who finished in the money were: fifth, Ed Dudley, Augusta, 228, $400; Smith, Wilkes MacFarlane, Tuckahoe, N. Y., 291, $300; tied for seventh, Harold McSpaden of Kansas City, Al Espinosa of Okron, O., Jimmie Hines of Timberville, N. QUINCY TO FETE ITS CHAMPIONS TODAY, TUESDAY

Wins First High School Basketball Tourney After Ten Years

Quincy, Ill., Mar. 26—(AP)—School was out today as students and townsfolk continued their celebration of Quincy high's first state basketball championship.

Coach Selmar O. Storby and the team which trounced Thornton high of Harvey, 39 to 27, Saturday night in the championship final at the University of Illinois, came home yesterday afternoon to a big celebration. A cheering crowd of several thousands fans, the high school band and a police escort met them at the city limits, paraded them through the streets and finished with a pep meeting at the school.

Today classes were suspended and an assembly lasting all morning was scheduled. Tomorrow night the champions will be guests at a huge civic banquet.

After Ten Years

The championship came to Quincy after more than 10 years of blasted hopes. Since 1921 the school has won ten district titles, but never was able to get beyond the finals of the sectional tests. This time, Quincy went through a season of 33 games and lost only two decisions. The schedule included 18 regularly scheduled contests, four in the Pontiac holiday tournament, which was won by Coach Storby's team; four in the district tournament, three in the sectional and four in the state finals.

In the Tri-State Conference, which includes Fort Madison and Keokuk, in Iowa, Hannibal and Kirksville in Missouri and Quincy and Macomb, from Illinois, Quincy swept through with ten straight victories.

To Lose Six Stars

Of the squad which felt Thornton out for two periods then broke loose behind the sensational shooting of Perry Barclit, to run away from the defending champions, six have played their last game for Quincy, and one will be available for only one semester next year. Barclit, John Bingaman, the other forward, Bill Rhineberg, giant center, and Harry Hall, the shooting guard, are seniors. Bob Reeves has one semester of competition left and Howard Roan and Joe Martin, reserves, are through. Only John Zimmerman and George Evans, guards, and Everett Turner, will be on deck for the whole of next season.

Coach Storby has been at Quincy five years, during which his teams have won five district titles, a sectional and as the climax, a state championship. He is a graduate of the University of Iowa.

Tournament Statistics
Total attendance—A new record of 33,070, more than double the former mark of 15,594, set in 1931.

High scorer, single game—Barclit, Quincy, 22; all time record, Rhineberg, Quincy; Hellman, of Thornton and Barringer Equality, 17.

High scorers, all games—Hart, of Moline, and Barclit, Quincy, 43. Highest team score—Thornton, 42, against Streator.

Greatest victory margin—Thornton, 22 points over Streator; and Charleston, 22 points over Freeport.

Lowest score game—Lane 13;

ONCE RICH OIL MAN TOOK OWN LIFE IN CHINA

C. C. Julian Suicides In Hotel Room: Was Once Wealthy

Shanghai, March 26—(AP)—The death of C. C. Julian, who made millions in oil and died in poverty, was coldly and officially recorded in a Shanghai public mortuary today.

C. E. Van de Veer, an American who knew Julian in California a quarter of a century ago, identified the body.

It was said there would be no official opinion as to the cause of death until a formal inquest on Thursday. Physicians who worked over Julian after he had been found in an Astor House hotel room yesterday by the young woman who was his dinner companion said that without doubt Julian took his own life.

However, some of Julian's close associates here insisted they believed he killed himself unintentionally.

Van de Veer, who lived in California when Julian was getting his start in the oil business in which he became a powerful figure in Oklahoma, now is the local representative for an American paint company.

Had Aided Dead Man
Van de Veer said today he had

Springfield 11 (three overtime periods).

Fewest fouls—Equality, 22 in three games; Thornton, 29 in four games.

helped Julian financially since the latter's arrival in Shanghai a year ago in default of $25,000 bail in Oklahoma where he was charged with fraud in connection with his financial operations.

"During the California days I invested in Julian's undertakings and made money," Vandever said. "Since Julian came to Shanghai I returned the favor."

Julian's midnight dinner companion at the fashionable hotel, Leonora Levy, his secretary, was believed recovering today from the same poison that physicians said killed Julian.

In a hospital, she regained consciousness yesterday afternoon long enough to tell nurses: "Julian said he would do it. I did not believe him, but he did it. . . . He was a brave man."

Infected Jaw Not Enough to Shelve Quincy's Forward

Quincy, Ill., Mar. 26—(AP)—A little thing like an infected jaw which required lancing three times within 24 hours, couldn't keep John Bingaman, Quincy forward, from helping his team to win the state high school basketball championship.

A tooth caused all the trouble, but rather than remain out of action, Bingaman submitted to the lancing and played through three tournament games with a badly swollen face.

Men Want Jobs —Not Doles!

Almost every downstate Illinois city and county, has said to the Legislature

"Let the Gas Tax Funds Alone!"

But another attempt is being made to take them.

Vehicle owners pay this money into the state treasury to buy needed street and road improvements. Properly spent, the money will buy these improvements and furnish payrolls for 22,500 men; sustenance for 100,000 people dependent upon wage earners.

If road and street work stops, these men will be thrown out of work and onto charity. Many an Illinois town and county has no other money for needed improvements. The gas tax income is now divided equally between state, counties and towns.

What About Schools?

Our schools must be supported; our hard-working teachers must be paid their salaries.

But the gas tax funds should not be plundered to pay the state's share of school upkeep.

There is money in other state funds for the schools. Other state revenues have a surplus. This will take care of the schools.

Then why take money from gas tax funds? There can be no valid reason.

Speak Up!

Within the week, thousands upon thousands of Illinois citizens have spoken! Their signed protests are on legislative desks in Springfield.

They say

"I am opposed to any kind of Diversion of the Gas Tax Funds from its original purpose for building and keeping up roads and streets."

What do You say?

Speak Up!

Write, wire or phone your state senator or representative at Springfield—now! He will welcome your support. A majority of the House members voted last week against this diversion. Another attempt is now to be made to get the Legislature to authorize such diversion.

But the Legislature will stand fast—will refuse to throw these men out of work—will take care of the schools with other available state revenues—if You speak up!

Do It Now!

TWENTY TONS OF MOULTEN GLASS POURED SUNDAY

Largest Telescopic "Eye"
Was Started in Corning, N. Y.

FACTS ABOUT BIG TELESCOPE
(By The Associated Press.)

200-inch mirror to take 10 months to cool.
Several years to grind and set up finished telescope.
Site—some mountain top in California.

Cost of whole telescope $6,000,000.
Does not magnify, as popularly believed.

Sets up new era in seeing, by gathering four-fold more light.

Photographs stars 10 times faster.
Will take pictures of objects four times farther away.

Will reveal 30 times more space.
Will show better the vast dust clouds of space.

Will reveal more of the origin of "novae" or new stars.

Snap-shoots the speeds of nebulae, now moving too fast to get.

Probably identify the parts of which comets are made.

Explain what is meant by curvature of space.

Show whether there is an "edge" or break in creation of stars.

Take pictures of nebulae 1,300,000,000 light years away.

Pick up the light of an estimated possible 2000 trillion stars.

Corning, N. Y., Mar. 26.—(AP)—A huge telescopic eye, the largest ever made and expected to reveal unexplored depths of the universe, cooled slowly today in its hibernation in preparation for the final stages of a costly astronomical experiment.

Twenty tons of molten glass were poured yesterday into the brick mold at the Corning Glass Works. When finally fashioned by annealing and grinding into a titanic disk, 200 inches in diameter and 26 inches deep, it will be fitted into a telescope in California.

The disc will be twice as large as any other. The mirror, when finished four years hence, will reach depths of the void more than one billion light years distant.

The most powerful astronomical eye now in use, at Mount Wilson, California, throws back images only 300,000,000 light years distant.

Look For Success

Although officials said they fully expected the eye poured yesterday would be a success, they disclosed that several hemispherical "cores" attached to the bottom of the mold disintegrated under the terrific heat.

They indicated this probably would be of little moment, but said that a precaution planned since also will be followed. A new mold will be prepared. If, on examination two or three months hence, imperfections are discovered in the glass, a new disc can be poured forthwith, losing as little time as possible. Everyone emphasized that making an eye of such size is a brand new experience and that only time can tell the exact outcome.

The cores were intended to make creases on the bottom of the disc to assist in holding it in place in the telescope and also to reduce the weight. If the mishap does not produce imperfections, the glass works will make the required cradles by drilling after the mirror is annealed.

To Cool Ten Months

Within the next 24 hours the mirror will be transferred from its isogoo-like house to the annealing tank. There it will cool very gradually during the next ten months. It then will be shipped to the Carnegie Institute of Technology in California to be ground to produce a concave reflecting surface.

Finally there will be the task of affixing a mirror surface. These last stages alone will require three years. Completed, the telescope will represent an investment of $6,000,000 furnished by the International Education Board.

The job of making the mirror cost approximately $1,000,000. A large share of the grant was spent trying to make an expansion proof glass of quartz. That failed. The Corning Company, after tedious research and experimentation, turned out a special glass with expansion of less than one fourth that of window glass.

The pouring of the glass, an all day task, was witnessed by almost 10,000 persons, many of whom motored here from distant points.

Included were almost 100 scientists and engineers of renown.

President Harrison Was

Eager Student of Bible

"Tippecanoe" Harrison never united with any church, but his predilections were for the Episcopal church.

When he became President he bought a Bible and a prayer book, and these were used as his funeral by the rector of St. John's Episcopal church, says the Washington Post. Concerning his religious faith the National Intelligence said, two days after his death:

"It is known that, for many years past, General Harrison had become more and more impressed with religious feelings, always treating serious things seriously, and showing himself mindful of his future accountability. A member of his family has stated that, for many months past, he had never omitted the reading of the Scriptures every night before retiring to rest, however harassed by company, or worn down by fatigue. On Monday, the third day of his indisposition, and before he felt himself in any particular danger, he declared to those around him that he had long been deeply impressed with the truths of the Christian religion, and regretted that he had not connected himself with the church as a communicant."

EVERY SECTION

BOWLING MATCH

Leaders Not Touched
in Sunday's Games of Peoria Meet

Peoria, Ill., March 26.—(AP)—Almost every section of the country was represented today in the American Bowling Congress.

There were changes in only two events yesterday and the holders of the top positions were not touched.

The five-man team class and the singles escaped. In the doubles, Albert Priebe and Joe Schwartz of St. Paul, Minn., stepped into second place with 1277 pins; N. Mergen and H. Glowski, Flint, Mich., grabbed seventh place with 1247 pins and Andy Tomisak and Joe Ganim, Cleveland, pulled down 1241 for ninth position.

Charles Johnson of Erie, Pa., collected 1860 pins in his nine games and won 17th position in the all-events.

More crack teams will roll this evening. On the first shift there will be the Graves Quality Ice Cream Company, Louisville, Ky., and Piggly Wiggly and E. Burkhardt and Steel & Iron Co. of Denver, Colorado. Three high scorers are booked for the second shift, they are: Fesemeyer Brew, Huntington, W. Va., St. Lawrence Milk, Reading, Pa., and Rome Motor Sales, Chicago.

ROOSEVELT TO LEAVE TUESDAY
TO CATCH FISH

Will Spend Ten Days in Warm Waters of the South Seas

Washington, March 26.—(AP)—President Roosevelt, now that a load is off his mind, headed the call of southern seas today. Cheered by the settlement of the automobile trouble, he packed up to sail tomorrow night on a fishing cruise.

The Chief Executive, however, is seeking a solution of three other pressing problems before taking the train for Jacksonville, Florida, where he will board the yacht, Nourmahal, owned by Vincent Astor.

He wants to see the railroad wage controversy settled; some definite action by Congress on the veterans-government pay row, and an understanding on return of the airmail to private companies. Leaving here tomorrow night Mr. Roosevelt plans to board the Nourmahal Wednesday morning in Jacksonville and head for the fishing grounds in the warm waters of the south.

He will be back in Washington by the end of next week, thus giving opportunity for action on any legislation which may be passed by Congress before the ten day constitutional time limit elapses.

Horseshoe Is $50,000 Jinx

The horseshoe above the shoulder of Mrs. Carveth Wells, shown here in Bermuda with her husband, famed explorer, wasn't a lucky omen. She has been sued for $50,000 by Wells' first wife, who divorced him in 1932, charging alienation of affections. Wife No. 2 was Wells' publicity agent when she married him.

Friday from twelve noon to three o'clock in the afternoon the churches that commonly unite will guide the people in the commemoration of the Holy Communion service of the Holy Week.

"In the night that He was betrayed He took bread," the record states, "Do this in remembrance of Me." are His words. The fifth day of Holy Week in the evening is the time the church thinks this service was instituted.

Friday evening at 7:30 the choir and pastor will conduct the Crucifixion service in the light of the illuminated cross. At the close of this service the pastor will baptize those desiring that rite.

BRETHREN CHURCH

The Brethren Sunday school had an attendance above the average yesterday, and nearly every one stayed for the worship which followed.

The house was packed in the evening with eager listeners and all were interested in the well prepared message in song, story and word. Roy Glessner sang a beautiful selection and both of these numbers were very well rendered and many compliments were heard. The boys and girls continue to manifest a growing interest and they were delighted with the story last night about "Uncle Josh," told by Mrs. Thompson.

Rock Falls, Sterling, Polo and Pine Creek were represented in the congregation last night. There will be services each evening this week except Saturday beginning at 7:30. This is known as "Holy Week" and held in sacred memory of Christ's suffering, unfair trial, death and resurrection, by many Christians, and it is fitting that God's people should assemble in worship during the week. The services will be short so that the children may attend, and there will be something special for them each evening. Tonight a hymn will be illustrated by the reception. Mrs. Thompson will tell a story, and the speaker will speak on the subject of "The King's Business." Everyone is invited to attend and bring their friends, and enjoy these services.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN

We almost reached the 400 mark in Sunday school at St. Paul's Lutheran church yesterday. Will you please note the display ad for the announcements of the services of this week.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH ITEMS

Bible school attendance yesterday was 361. The adult classes made the following attendance records: Loyal men 53; Friehas 47; young men 38; Upstreamers 37; True Blue 30; young people's 18.

There were six responses to the gospel invitation extended in the decision service yesterday morning. Two others came in the evening making eight for the day.

The choir will meet Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock to rehearse the Easter cantata.

There will be three special prayer meetings in observance of the Easter week of prayer for world missions conducted by the Women's Missionary organizations at the church 2:30 Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Mrs. Winifred Wells will be leader Tuesday; Mrs. J. E. Newcomb, Wednesday and Mrs. A. S. Derr, Thursday. An invitation is extended to all.

All day meeting of the Ladies Aid society Wednesday.

The beautiful floral decorations for Palm Sunday were greatly appreciated. Thanks are due to Mrs. H. Reitzel, Mrs. H. W. Stauffer, Mrs. H. W. Taylor and Miss Ethel Seyster.

The union Good Friday service will be held at the First Methodist church from 12:00 to 3:00 Friday.

The Pre-Easter meetings will continue each evening this week at 7:30. There will be a baptismal service tonight following the sermon.

Remember the Bible school aim for Easter—450 in attendance and an offering of $100 for Home Missions.

The Official Board will meet in its five divisions this evening at 7 o'clock. At 7:30 all the officials will come together for the business of the evening. All are invited to be present to enjoy this session. The pastor will have charge of the devotional service.

Tuesday evening at 7:30 the entire church is invited to assemble in the Sanctuary for the service of the third day of Holy week. The pastor will preach.

Wednesday evening the service will be at the same hour and place. There is no record in the New Testament of anything Jesus did or said on the fourth day of the last week of His earth-life. In this there is a vital message.

Thursday at the same hour and place the pastor and choir will guide the people in the commemoration of the Holy Communion service of the Holy Week.

SUSPEND FOR THREE HOURS GOOD FRIDAY

Dear Editor:—Allow me to suggest through you to the business interests of the community the propriety of closing all places of business Friday from 12 to 3 o'clock out of respect for Jesus Christ who the record tells us hung upon the cross a-dying during those hours of Holy Week. Could anything be more fitting these stressful times? Houses of business do close for far easier reason. Other cities in northern Illinois close three times as large as

The ROMANTIC RUNAWAY

by KATHARINE HAVLAND-TAYLOR

BEGIN HERE TODAY

PABLO, a handsome youth, becomes a fugitive when, due to circumstances beyond his control, he finds himself on his way to Cuba with BEAU and LOTTIE, two thieves.

Beau has killed a man and stolen a famous string of pearls. Pablo does not know this at that time, but he has been accused of the crime which took place at the Florida home of wealthy JIM FIELD. Pablo loves Field's daughter, ESTELLE, and she loves him, but she is afraid of her father's wrath and Lottie's care brings him back to health.

Meanwhile SIR AUBREY, a titled Englishman and Pablo's father, begins a search for his son in Havana, hoping to find Pablo there.

In Havana Pablo tries to find out about the man who heeded him as a child. Nerves, also a fugitive, is not to be found. Pablo becomes ill with fever but Lottie's care brings him back to health.

Meanwhile SIR AUBREY, a titled Englishman and Pablo's father, begins a search for his son in Havana, hoping to find Pablo there.

There were goats in the streets and little brown babies, some of them wearing shirts, some without. Rank, coarse grass grew before the porch, high of pillar and of ceiling, before the one-story, connecting houses to make a colonnade. Heat and languor and noise and disorder, Sir Aubrey felt. A Chinese vegetable vendor padded down the center of the street, carrying baskets heavily laden with greens on a pole strung across his shoulders. A laborer slept soundly in a little shade.

Sir Aubrey visioned the roseate future in which he saw himself taking the boy home to Lower Gittings. He saw the big hall filled with family portraits, his wife and daughters drinking tea and eating strawberries on the lawn, the curate coming with some companion from the courts. Soon he would be taking guests to the stables; shooting; coming in, tired and satisfied, after a day that had given him a good bank. And

COURT OF HONOR FOR BOY SCOUTS TOMORROW NIGHT

March Meeting Is to Be Held in Paw Paw
Opera House

The March Court of Honor for Lee County Boy Scouts has been set for Tuesday evening. The Paw Paw high school building will be the scene when all of the Boy Scouts and leaders will gather for the reception of awards for the various ranks from second class through life.

M. M. Memler, the Court of Honor Secretary, will receive reports from Scoutmasters at nine o'clock to the Court.

The Board of Review will be conducted by R. M. Ferguson and he will be assisted by C. W. Ross, W. D. MacLeod, G. D. Bort. The review will start at 7:30 P. M. and the Court of Honor at eight.

A special feature of the March Court of Honor will be the presentation of a woodland horn and will be given by the County Scout Commissioner Enos Keithley for the Troop having had the best attendance at Courts of Honor for the first three months of the year 1934.

There are now units in the county that have percentages that are very close. Troop committees of Scout troops will aid the Scoutmasters in the provision of transportation for Scouts attending the monthly ceremonial.

O. F. Goeke is the chairman of the Lee County Court of Honor committee. This committee meets every month for the purpose of awarding certificates and honors to those having put forth special effort. Addresses, stunts, musical numbers will add to the program features at the Paw Paw meeting. The public is invited to attend all Courts of Honor.

Daily Health Talk

SIGHING AS A SYMPTOM

It is not uncommon to find patients complaining of shortness of breath, or of difficulty in drawing a deep breath, who are more concerned over the disease they think they are suffering than the discomfort they actually feel.

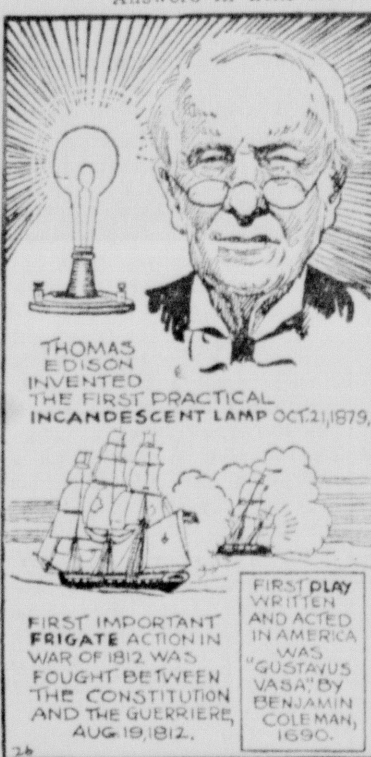

Most such patients are afraid of heart disease. They have heard "shortness of breath" is one of its symptoms, and, suffering from what they consider shortness of breath, they draw what seems to be the evident conclusion—which brings them to the physician's office with their complaints.

It is true that dyspnea or shortness of breath is a cardinal symptom of heart disease, but the dyspnea of heart disease, is associated with effort and muscular strain, whereas the shortness of breath complained of by the type of patient referred to here is quite frequently felt when the patient is at rest, either sitting or lying.

happiness in the emotional and psychologic phases of the individual's life. The condition may be treated palliatively, by means of sedatives.

One benefit to such a patient, and an important one, comes from the reassurance that his sighing or shortness of breath is NOT due to heart disease.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"Matter" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, March 25.

The Golden Text was, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain" (Exodus 20:7).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "Nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom; And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity; the sea and the waves roaring; men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth; for the powers of heaven shall be shaken. And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh" (Luke 21:10, 25, 26, 28).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "This material world is even now becoming the arena for conflicting forces. On one side there will be discord and dismay; on the other side there will be Science and peace. The breaking up of material beliefs may seem to be famine and pestilence, want and war, sin, sickness, and death, which assume new phases until their nothingness appears. These disturbances will continue until the end of error, when all discord will be swallowed up in spiritual Truth" (p. 96).

MONDAY, March 26

(Read John XVII:6-19)

"Thou Gavest Them Me"

Jesus asks only two things for the twelve, but these two things cover everything essential. "Keep them from the Evil One." "Sanctify them in the truth." The word is corrupt. Its very atmosphere is tainted. The whole world lies in the evil one. But the disciples of Jesus are not to run away from the world. They are to plunge into its life and redeem it. They are to grapple with its enemies and conquer them. They are to wrestle with its problems and solve them. They must keep themselves unspotted from the world. Christians must be morally clean. This is first and last. Without holiness no man can see the Lord or work for him successfully. But it is not enough to be kept from evil. They must be sanctified in the truth. They must have the word of God in themselves. They must be dedicated to the true and the good. They must be in league with holiness. "For their sakes I sanctify myself that they themselves also may be sanctified in truth."

Prayer: Holy, holy, holy, Lord God of hosts, keep us, we implore Thee, from the corruption of the world. We know that evil lurks on every side, and that our home is in a perverse and adulterous generation. Save us, O Lord, and throw round us the protection of Thy love. Amen.

Sunken Treasure Ships

The sunken treasure ships lying in silent repose deep down in Davy Jones' locker continue from age to age to dazzle adventurers, and are the bait to lure modern salvors with their batteries of pneumatic drills, coffer-dams, compressors, dynamite and pile drivers in attempts to bring the golden haul to the water's surface. Large capital and patience are all that is required to place these illimitable fortunes within the reach of those treasure hunters, who in their dreams ever hear the call of John Silver's shrill parrot: "Stand by to go about! Pieces-of-eight! Yo ho! Pieces-of-eight!"

MUST DYNAMITE VICTIMS' BODIES FROM THE ICE

Eight Frozen in Ice in Argentinian Mountains

Puerto del Inca, Argentina, Mar. 25.—(AP)—Dynamite will be necessary to remove the ice-locked bodies of eight men killed in the crash of the air liner San Jose high in the snow-capped Andes 20 months ago.

The body of A. Woods, a steward aboard the Pan-American-Grace plane, which was found last Thursday thus solving one of the greatest mysteries of the air, was brought here yesterday.

Today, company officials announced it would be necessary to send out another expedition equipped with explosives to break the ice and recover the bodies of the eight others killed.

The wreckage is in the slippy slope of Cerro Del Plomo, about four miles south of Puerto Del Inca.

Reports that the plane had been robbed of gold were under investigation. Air line officials discounted the reports.

Name "Marian" and "Marion"

There seems to be no hard and fast rule concerning the spelling of the Christian name "Marian." In early literature it was spelled both with an "a" and with an "o." Marion as a feminine name is derived from that of the Virgin Mary, and in France as early as the Thirteenth century was so spelled. Later there appeared a French feminine name, Marianne, a combination of Marie and Anne, which subsequently was abbreviated to Marian. Among the Latin races, many men were also named for the Virgin Mary, and the name Marion, spelled either with an o or with an a, is frequently used.

Crookedest Stream in Ohio

The crookedest stream in Ohio is the trout stream caused by the large and constant flow of water from the Blue Hole in Erie county. It is six miles long and winds over only 104 acres. It was a favorite fishing spot of President Cleveland.

LAST RITES FOR INO. BLACKBURN HELD WEDNES.

Harmon Church Filled to Overflowing by Friends

The funeral of John J. Blackburn who died last Monday morning was held Wednesday from St. Flannan's Catholic church in Harmon. An immense throng that overflowed the church paid their last respects to "Big Jack" as he was familiarly known.

The deceased was born in Marion township, October 25, 1868 and had lived there his entire life, with the exception of the past four years which he spent in Harmon. He was married to Miss Adaline Ulrich thirty-eight years ago and she left the following children survive: Mrs. Margaret Dempsey, Mrs. Florence Considine, Joseph, John, Mrs. Bessie Callahan and Mrs. Adaline Cramer. The youngest son David met a tragic death by drowning in Rock River five years ago. He is also survived by seven brothers and three sisters.

Mr. Blackburn had been ill since December and all that loving care and medical attention could do was of no avail. The remains were taken to his farm home near Harmon where crowds of sorrowing friends and relatives gathered while his body rested for the last time in the home he had loved so well.

A requiem high mass was sung by his pastor, Rev. Fr. David Murphy, who paid a glowing tribute to the character of Mr. Blackburn. Interment was in Oakwood where he was laid to rest beside his son.

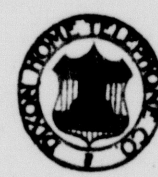

Shrimps Are Productive
A shrimp spawns but once in its life. Science News Letter states, but it may produce as many as 800,000 eggs in this single reproductive period.

"DODGING TRAFFIC TAKES HEALTHY NERVES, TOO, MR. HOCKEY PLAYER."

Miss Ruth Dodd of New York City speaks with authority on the perils of a pedestrian. She says:

"Of course it takes healthy nerves to lead a championship hockey team. But let me say a word about healthy nerves in behalf of those millions of us who do our walking along city streets. People rushing madly by—trolleys clanging—traffic whistles shrilling—huge trucks bearing down on you at every crossing—it's enough to make nerves jump and quiver! I enjoy a smoke any time—and smoke steadily, too. My cigarette? Camels. They're milder, taste marvelously—and don't interfere with healthy nerves."

Captain "Bill" Cook of the New York Rangers, 1933 Champion Hockey Team, says: "A hockey player can't afford to have 'nerves.' The way I guard my nerves and yet smoke all I want is to smoke only Camels. They have a taste that sure hits the spot. I smoke a lot and I find that Camels never get on my nerves or tire my taste."

How Are YOUR Nerves?

Few are those today who have not been face to face with the "jangled nerves" that our modern, high-speed life is blamed for!

You know the signs of nerves that fitch—tense-ness, irritability. Fussy little habits like key-rattling...pencil-tapping.

Check up now on your habits. Eating. Sleeping. Your work and play. And get a fresh slant on smoking by starting on Camels.

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS than any other popular brand.

You'll find Camels rich in flavor—yet mild and delicate. Smoking will have a new zest. And each Camel renews the enjoyment...the pleasure of smoking at its best!
